NOTE: That the differences to be noted between the number of families embarked in France and the number landed here, and between the latter and the total at present is due in the first case to the fact that some persons have separated from their respective families and formed their own at the time of the census; and in the second, the same thing has occurred with all those who have married, and some others who subsequently separated from their families. New Orleans ..... of ..... 1786.
